

ÉCOLE ST. MARY

BOTTOM LINES

The prime responsibility for student behaviour belongs to the student. We actively involved all stakeholders in the problem solving process. Students with persistent or severe behaviour problems who infringe on the rights of staff and students to work in a safe task-oriented environment may be referred to counsellors and/or administration for further assistance.

Our general approach is to be consistent, fair and goal-oriented. A range of alternatives is considered allowing each case to be treated individually rather than using a lock-step restrictive format.

École St. Mary has bottom lines that when crossed are considered major incidents and are unacceptable behaviours at our school.
